Lead with Impact: Career Clarity Workbook

by Kim Bryan

As a professional, you've likely worked hard to earn your role, but that doesn't always mean your path forward is clear. Maybe you're wondering what's next, questioning whether you're in the right place, or ready to lead with more intention and confidence.

This workbook is designed to help you:

- Reflect on your values and strengths
- Explore what career alignment really means for you
- Clarify your ideal leadership direction
- Identify the bold next step you can take now

Take 20–30 minutes of focused time to work through these prompts. You can revisit them anytime your leadership identity or goals begin to shift.

1. What do I value most in my work and leadership?

---

---

---

2. What leadership strength do others consistently see in me?

---

---

---

3. What kind of work gives me energy and meaning?

---

---

---

4. What does “career alignment” look like for me right now?

---

---

---

5. What is the one bold next step I could take to move toward my ideal leadership role?

---

---

---

6. What limiting beliefs might be holding me back?

---

---

---
